

Rudy Reyes

Rudy Reyes

I'm the owner, creator and talent on TheRudeDogShow.com podcast. I decided to attend Fullerton College to further refine writing, video content (linear), broadcast and sports announcing skills. My vocal training at Del Mar Media Arts assisted in understanding my ranges, style, tone and overall vocal talent. I realized my potential early on to help bolster awareness for Division II Football talent on my show. This was a design that has been a staple for my show to help it grow with tireless amounts of effort and I continue with this practice today. An opportunity at SB Nation as a reporter was a fulfilling position having attended the ESPY and Humanitarian Awards, NBA Awards and most recently the 2018 NFL Draft. An opportunity in television at KGWN Cheyenne Wyoming as the weekend Sports Reporter. Cheyenne Wyoming was the viable break needed to further my broadcasting career I was looking for and with NBC Global Broadcast Operations as a Media Analyst showed me what steps in video correction capturing, distribution means to viewership and how significant my role is.

Essentials

"When quality exceeds quantity. I take pride in simply being able to communicate in a learning process because we are always learning."

– Rudy Reyes

Read More About Rudy